Hi - thanks for the input - good thoughts on the documents.

I did give both you and Steve hard copies and the CDs; I did not want to bother Bill with the weight of the hard copies, but do still need to get him the CDs.

Good thoughts on who to contact in Silverton too. I have been getting various news articles, some from my google alerts, but others from coworkers; however, I have not seen the editorial. Could you forward that one?

Sincerely,

Sabrina Forrest

Sabrina - I had no trouble downloading the documents, however, Transferbigfiles sent me an email first. I don't want Transferbigfiles sending everyone on our email list an email. My sense is for me to send an email to our list saying electronic copies are available through you and let people email you for it. Then you can go through transferbigfiles. I don't think too many people will contact you. I will talk to Bill about putting a copy in the Silverton library. Do Bill and Steve have hard copies? Also, in terms of talking to people in Silverton, I think you should contact Pete McKay and Aaron Brill for ideas as to how to reach people in the community. Also, I don't know if you've seen the Durango Herald articles. There was one on Sunday and another today that discuss water quality in the upper Animas. There is also an editorial in today's paper.

issues

Peter, Here is the link. <https://www.transferbigfiles.com/>

I have also sent you the two files via the URL as a test. If it does not work out easily for you, it may be a pain for others. Let me know.

I have used it once before and the recipient thought it was great. The only bad thing is that you won't be able to send a message (in Optional Settings) without a paid subscription. Therefore, it might help to send a separate email to all the recipients explaining that an electronic copy of EPA's August 10, 2011 Analytical Results Report for Site Reassessment, conducted between October 25 - November 1, 2010 is going to be uploaded to <https://www.transferbigfiles.com/>. If recipients have questions, they may contact me directly. You may include all my contact information below.

Of course, this won't help anyone who does not have internet access. If we have many of those, we will have to direct them to a local document repository. I assume the Silverton library would be good for that.

Sincerely,

Sabrina Forrest
